

CDR training courses now with added CPD

CDR Group are pleased and proud to announce that all of our MapInfo training courses have been approved for Association for Geographic Information (AGI) Continuing Professional Development (CPD) accreditation. This means that delegates attending CDR's training courses can allocate points toward their own CPD programmes or the Royal Geographic Society Certified Geographer (C.Geog GIS) programme.

This award recognises the structure, currency and relevance of all the courses. If you are interested in attending the Entry Level, Advanced Level, MapBasic Essentials or Vertical Mapper course please contact our sales team. See the relevant training page on this web site for the number of points gained for each course.
