

Precisely announces Subscription Licensing for MapInfo Pro

Like many software vendors, Precisely has moved to Subscription Pricing and Licensing for all new licences purchased from 1st July 2021.

This is great news for new customers who would have been looking to purchase MapInfo Pro for £1,660 + VAT - as the new pricing is only £590 + VAT per annum.

What is more, is that it includes MapInfo Pro Advanced, any new software releases and technical support for the one annual fee!

If you are on a current Maintenance And Technical Support (MATS) contract with an existing perpetual licence, then you can carry on with that model and also add more licences in the usual manner. There is an option to switch over to the Subscription model - and you will gain from having the Advanced version too. This means that you would lose the "perpetual" aspect of the MapInfo licence.

If you have dropped out of the annual MATS contract and want to upgrade to the latest version of Mapinfo Pro (maybe you are still on a 32-bit version), then you would go straight onto the Subscription Licence. This is also cheaper than the upgrade + MATS cost.

Note that there is also the option of a 3 year licence for an even lower annual fee plus there are further discounts for volume licences.
